4. Aim of Property Acquisition

The Omiya area where the property is located is the gateway to the Tokyo metropolitan area, with Shinkansen (bullet train) lines bound for the Tohoku and Joshinetsu regions, and features a concentration of various urban functions. The area is also highly positioned in corporate strategies for operational bases, offering steady demand for office spaces and resulting in lower vacancies than Central Tokyo. The property is a six-minute walk from the east exit of Omiya Station, a large-scale terminal station, and situated in the office district in the east exit area where banks and companies hold their branches and other functions in a concentrated manner.

Completed in 2009, the property is relatively new, has comfortable office spaces with approximately 240 tsubos of leasable space on a standard floor and a ceiling height of 2.8m, and is equipped with many parking spaces that are essential in business areas in Omiya. JPR highly evaluates the property which, as an office building having a strong ability to attract replacing tenants and high competitiveness, allows expectations for relatively high returns and stable earnings it generates.

5. Seller Profile

The seller is not disclosed as JPR has not obtained consent from the seller to disclose. Furthermore, the seller does not fall within the scope of either the related parties as defined in the Enforcement Order for the Act on Investment Trusts and Investment Corporations or the interested parties as defined in the rules of JPR's Board of Directors.
